

Programme and Course Outcome

The B.A. programme is entitled the under graduates to get ready for post graduate studies of various disciplines or related programmes and face competitive examinations of state/ central/ private firms. Graduates will be familiar with the social, political, economic, geographical, historical, and philosophical and philosophical facts and knowledge. The BA Programme offers the foundation for under graduates to build good moral character which will help them to face real life problems and help to find solutions of those and also make responsible citizen of India.

The B.Sc. programme is entitled the under graduates to get ready for post graduate studies of various disciplines or related programmes and face competitive examinations of state/ central/ private firms. The B.Sc. programme allows the graduates to expand their scientific nature of understanding with real life applications. The under graduates learn the system of understanding through the process of listening, observation, logical thinking, analytical mindset and practical utility.

The B.Com. programme is entitled the under graduates to get ready for post graduate studies of various disciplines or related programmes and face competitive examinations of state/ central/ private firms. The B.Com. programme enables the students to obtain the knowledge of accounting (financial, costing and Corporate accounting), direct and indirect taxation, auditing and insurance, financial management , business and corporate law and practices, retail business economics, statistics and information technology and e-commerce. The programme helps the under graduates to run business and also starts a start-up and commercial management through their learning's and knowledge gathered from the programme.

B.A. (Major and General) Programme and course outcome

The students graduate from B.A. programme (Bengali, English, Sanskrit, Philosophy, Education, History, Political Science, Physical Education, Kokborok, Geography and Economics) helps to develop the literary aspects, emotional, aesthetic, intellectual, real life problem solving capability and spiritual mindset of students. The language group of subjects enables the students to develop communication skills for future upliftment. The social science group helps the students to know the historical facts and figures and evolution of thoughts from pre-historic period to present; political science enables the students to know and understand the constitution of India, political theories, democratic theories and government mechanism to implement schemes in hierarchy from rural to urban areas; the Economics subject help the students to understand economics of country in diversified fields, demographic features, agricultural economics, various analysis of demand supply, consumer's behaviour, financial management, banking and capital markets, financial institutions, various theories of economics (Classical and modern), trade cycle and migration theory; these things will help the students to know better about their country's economy and its functions to run the country. The Geography subject entitles to understand and observe the natural processes of earth's landforms formation and anthropogenic activities which affect directly or indirectly the earth. They learn about various locational factors to set up industry, landuse, location points, various human activities and its impact on human beings and nature, natural and man-made hazards and disaster, GPS mapping and Satellite imageries reading. The physical education course enables the students to physically fit and sound in mind. The course helps the students to understand meaning and need for physical education, importance of psychology in physical activities, importance of sports training for various sports activities and in health; this course also tells about sports injuries and physiotherapy approaches. The education course enables the students to understand the philosophical and sociological foundation of education with special reference to India which will provide the base for understanding, also tells about importance of psychology in education, development of Indian education system and contemporary trends and issues in education, also know about thinking of great scholars on education and also learn about measurement of various aspects with the help of statistics.

B.Sc. (Major and General) Programme and course outcome

The B.Sc. (major and General) programmes enables the students to cultivate themselves in developing scientific knowledge and understanding and also widen the hands to reach the horizon of the scientific community. This programme provides base for students to enrol themselves in higher studies; the laboratory works and project works made the students skilful, uphold talent, and practice of think again and again and act accordingly. Students will enable to understand the basic concepts, fundamental principles, and the scientific theories related to the subjects understanding and its application in real life. The programme enables the students to perform qualitative and quantitative analysis, critical thinking and communication of learned knowledge through different means of communication. Students are entitled to reflect their creativity to find solutions in new way for the problems arise though this programme learning. The B.Sc. programme is divided into two parts namely Physical and biological sciences.

The B.Sc. programme in Physical Sciences (Physics, Chemistry and Mathematics) develops the aptitude of students to identify, understand, analyze and plan to perform safe experimental process to offer efficient exercise by performing explanation of concerned data. Students will be capable by performing these experiments to engage themselves in lifelong learning to cultivate themselves as a flourishing beneficiary of science lover and to build a logical mindset. They are entrusted to get awareness on the impacts of the environment and society and problem solving utilities of science and technology. The subjects provide broad horizon of knowledge by using new methodologies, analysis and logic for future development of the society.

The B.Sc. programmes in Bio-Science Courses (Botany, Zoology and Human Physiology) facilitates the under graduates to opt for higher education studies in the particular subjects or in related fields. Students will be capable by performing these experiments to engage themselves in lifelong learning to cultivate themselves as a flourishing beneficiary of science lover and to build a logical mindset. They are entrusted to get awareness on the impacts of the environment and society and problem solving utilities of science and technology. The under graduates even may seek Jobs through competitive exams, other state/ central govt. jobs, Research labs, agro and pharma industries, food processing firms, tissue culture labs, teaching area etc. The students are encouraged to work on environmental issues and solve issues through eco-friendly approaches.

B.Com. (Major and General) Programme and course outcome

The B.Com. (Major and General) programmes allow the students to gain knowledge thorough systematic studying of various subjects to obtain the knowledge of accounting (financial, costing and Corporate accounting), direct and indirect taxation, auditing and insurance, financial management, business and corporate law and practices, retail business economics, statistics and information technology and e-commerce which can be applied in real life situation to solve the real problems. Students expand their knowledge and develop analytical expertise in the discipline for contemporary issues. The students obtain skills to compete at global level, office management and build efficiency to perform as a leader to lead a team through this programme and course. The under graduates will be capable to point out the features and functions of entrepreneur, manager, consultant and businessman and tackle with rightful decision making capabilities by learning through this programme.